Local residents came together on a frigid March morning to remove an unsightly roadside dumpsite along Looker Mountain Trail Road. The volunteers worked along with a local contractor to clean up the mountain side. Looker Mountain Trail Road is located on Looker Mountain which is part of the Allegheny National Forest region that provides an abundance of recreational activities for visitors to the region. Visitors hiking the hundreds of miles of trails may venture upon the biggest elk herd in the northeast or star gaze under the darkest skies in the eastern United States.
